OVERVIEW

This short guide provides AAA Independent Insurance Agents with clear details on how to properly use the approved AAA Independent Insurance Agent logos when promoting AAA Insurance in marketing channels.

WHY IS PROPER LOGO USAGE IMPORTANT?

Similar to other iconic brands like Target, McDonald's and Disney, AAA is very protective of our logo and identity. The AAA mark is the face we present to the world – from our members to prospective customers to business partners and the media.

By following the guidelines here, you will help create a strong, identifiable and consistent brand that will benefit both your agency and AAA The Auto Club Group.

In addition, AAA The Auto Club Group is restricted to offering insurance products within its 14 U.S. states and territories. Logos that could be seen outside this geographic footprint (web, TV) MUST include The Auto Club Group in the mark. Radio spots must also contain AAA The Auto Club Group.

WHAT HAPPENS IF THE AAA LOGO IS MISUSED?

Logo compliance is extremely important. AAA National monitors usage and violations are reported daily to leadership. Please maintain compliance in all of your usage.

ADDITIONAL WEB & ELECTRONIC GUIDELINES

When using the Internet or other forms of electronic media to promote your partnership with AAA, please follow these guidelines:

- Do not use the trademarked terms AAA or Triple A within the domain name of your Internet site.
- The AAA Independent Insurance Agent logo must be used in its entirety in one of the formats detailed on page 2, while following all other AAA Brand Identity Guidelines specified by The Auto Club Group.
- Independent Agencies may display the AAA Independent Insurance Agent logo in tandem with other insurance carrier logos – but only when the intent is to present all the carriers the agency represents. In such instances, the AAA identity should be represented in greater or equal prominence to the other identities.
- The AAA Independent Insurance Agent logo or references of your affiliation with AAA or The Auto Club Group may not be posted to Social Media networking sites such as Facebook and Twitter.
- If the logo image is clickable, it must link to AAA.com.

VISUAL FORM

The preferred AAA Independent Insurance Agent logo is composed of the AAA logo flush left over the words “Independent Insurance Agent” in two lines. The logo should never be altered from its approved design or proportions.

LOGO COLOR AND BACKGROUND

The AAA Independent Insurance Agent logo uses the colors Pantone 485 red for the AAA oval and Pantone 287 blue for all other elements (CMYK equivalents are illustrated on page 4). The logo may also be printed in one color using either black or as a white reverse on a field of sufficiently contrasting color. See the ACG Brand Guide for more details on the usage of the AAA logos.

STOREFRONT SIGNAGE GUIDELINES

The AAA Independent Insurance Agent logo may not be incorporated in an Independent Insurance Agency's primary exterior office signage. The AAA Independent Insurance Agent logo may be displayed via interior mounted window signs and decals and on doors.

A white logo is preferred in most window applications for best visibility from the outside.

The logo may only be displayed in window decals and or doors (no larger than 18" high x 24" wide)
